Active Gaming Media recruitment team, Osaka — October 2026

Application: International Sales / Overseas Business Representative

Dear Active Gaming Media team,

My name is Sabri Mohamadi. I am a Producer based in Tokyo, and from 2023 to 2025 I was Global Associate Producer on the Little Nightmares franchise at Bandai Namco Entertainment Europe. I am writing to apply for the International Sales position. I have also applied for the Assistant Producer role at PLAYISM, and I would be glad to be considered for either.

For two years I sat on the other side of the table. At Bandai Namco I worked every day with service partners: localisation, QA, playtest vendors and porting studios. I learned what a game team needs from a partner, what makes them trust one, and what makes them nervous before a launch. That is the experience I would bring to developers and publishers thinking about Japan and Asia.

My daily work was to keep external studios and internal teams aligned: Supermassive Games on Little Nightmares III, Iconik on the VR game, Playdigious on the mobile port in the run-up to launch, and porting work with Engine Software. I reviewed milestone deliveries, followed up on every open point and reported progress to stakeholders and the IP holder.

The role is a sales role, and I have no sales record to show. The closest is my time helping Hiqub, a collective of independent creators, as Producer and Business Developer, where I made introductions and gave production advice. Today, as a freelancer, I work with indie creators and small studios through their communities, and I am preparing interviews with indie developers in Japan for my YouTube channel, I am Hika. Talking with developers is the part of this job I already enjoy.

French is my native language and English my working language. I understand most spoken Japanese and hold everyday conversations; reading and writing are still behind, and I take classes to close that gap. I can start right away, including relocating to Osaka. My portfolio is at sabri-mohamadi.fr. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Kind regards,

Sabri Mohamadi
