lowiro hiring team, Tokyo

October 2026

Application: Game Producer (Tokyo)

I am applying for the Game Producer position in your Tokyo office. lowiro now runs two music games, Arcaea and In Falsus, with teams in London and Tokyo, and the role is about keeping those teams coordinated, unblocked and on schedule across time zones and disciplines. That is the job I did for two years at Bandai Namco, and I would love to do it on rhythm games.

As Global Associate Producer on Little Nightmares at Bandai Namco Entertainment Europe, I was part of the core team behind the franchise's worldwide strategy. I worked on three projects in parallel: Little Nightmares III with Supermassive Games, Little Nightmares VR: Altered Echoes with Iconik, and the mobile port of the original with Playdigious in the run-up to launch, plus porting work with Engine Software. Each studio had its own tools, culture and time zone. I turned requirements into milestones they could commit to, reviewed every milestone delivery, and kept QA, localisation, analytics, marketing and communications aligned with what was really being built. I helped ship all three games.

A Producer in a studio of lowiro's size also needs to understand how the game is actually made. I trained as a programmer and still prototype in Unity and Unreal, so I can discuss engines, builds and asset pipelines with leads, and I have working basics in Photoshop. I track production in Notion, Jira and Confluence, and at Bandai Namco I automated a weekly report that used to take a full day.

Much of Production is getting people who disagree to commit to one plan. At Bandai Namco Europe I sat on the accessibility task force and wrote the team's must-have accessibility document, and on Little Nightmares I turned an accessibility audit into a prioritised backlog that the team delivered. Today I work freelance with indie teams and teach Producing, Game Design and Level Design at Ynov Campus as a Visiting Lecturer.

I have played a lot of rhythm games, from osu! to Muse Dash, so I know how much timing, chart feel and polish matter to players. I live in Tokyo, and at Bandai Namco I already worked with our colleagues from Bandai Namco Entertainment in Japan on milestone reviews and demo requests. I understand most spoken Japanese and hold everyday conversations with ease. Reading and writing are still behind, and I am taking classes to close that gap.

My portfolio and CV are at sabri-mohamadi.fr. I would be glad to talk about how I can help your producers and leads keep lowiro's projects on track.

Kind regards,
